property, which has recently stalled. An engineer has determined the one-acre property about two miles south of Ogallala is the best location for a south water source and the city has entered into a good faith negotiation for the purchase of the property necessary to put in a well.—reported in the Keith County News.

Criminals active in Eustis area

CURTIS—Frontier County Sheriff Dan Rupe recently gave an account of criminal activity taking place around the area, specifically in the Eustis area. A recent 911 dispatch of a disturbance in Eustis resulted in several arrests including charges of terroristic threats, possession of deadly weapon while committing a felony, driving during refectation and more. Another Eustis resident was charged with possession of a controlled substance and distribution. A Lexington man was also arrested in Eustis for a traffic stop that resulted in charges of possession of a controlled substance and driving under the influence of drugs.—reported in the Frontier County Enterprise.

Arnold grad launches InstaSticker App

Tour de Nebraska to overnight at Callaway

CALLAWAY—The 26th annual five-day Tour de Nebraska bicycle ride will be heading to Central Nebraska on its 306 mile round-trip journey June 19-23. Approximately 300 cyclists will leave Doniphan on June 19 and camp overnight in Loup City, Callaway, Holdrege and Blue Hill. Members of the Callaway Chamber of Commerce are busy planning and coordinating the visit and encourage community members to show what they have to offer and to highlight their community spirit, history and friendliness—all unique to Nebraska.—reported in the Callaway Courier.
