

Science takes Center Stage

Written by Gothenburg Times

Friday, 01 February 2013 14:21 - Last Updated Friday, 01 February 2013 14:27

Imagination and curiosity were on display Thursday at Gothenburg Public School's annual seventh and eighth grade science fair.

A total of 142 students developed science projects where they formed a hypothesis and then set about testing.

Coordinator Cathy Larson said three areas of competition were judged—group, life science and physical science. The top three places received medals.

