

Sticking together

Written by Deb Egenberger
Friday, 14 September 2012 13:06 -

Runners learning benefit of bunches

LEXINGTON—Gothenburg runners are learning that it pays to stick together.

During a hot run on a challenging course at Lakeside Country Club for the Lexington Invite last week, the Swede girls found a way to finish within just a few runners of each other.

That's one thing coach Steve Reeves has been trying to emphasize for a long time.

"They're starting to bunch up and move up in the pack," Reeves said. "I hope that bodes well for us when it comes to some of the tougher meets down the road."

Three Swede girls finished in the top 15 to earn medals.

Junior Abbie Mazour finished 10th in a time of 18:53 with sophomore Alayna Collins only a second behind in 11th place.

Freshman Destiny McVay also earned a medal in 13th place.

Sticking together

Written by Deb Egenberger

Friday, 14 September 2012 13:06 -

North Carolina's boys' basketball team is a team of winners. They have won the state championship for the last three years and are currently ranked as the top team in the nation. They are a team that sticks together and works hard to win.