Gothenburg falls in C1-11 first round.

LEXINGTON—Regular season and conference games are important. They just don't hold the same weight for high school basketball teams as a sub-district matchup.

Gothenburg and Cozad girls squared off twice this year prior to Monday night's C1-11 sub-district game in Lexington.

The Haymakers won the regular-season game 41-35 and the Swedes eliminated Cozad in the first round of the Southwest Conference tournament 38-28.

So the rubber match in the sub-district meant not only bragging rights but a chance to move on.

“Cozad came out and set the tone early,” said Swede coach Tim Peterson. “They played with more intensity, with a fire in their eyes.”

That inferno led to a 51-32 victory over Gothenburg, ending the Swedes' season.
