The Brady Lions Club will have its annual no-rules chili cook-off and supper on Saturday, Feb. 23, at the Brady Community Center.

At the same time, the Lions will make available craft or home-based business vendor booths.

Cost for either a chili or vendor booth is $15 with all chili contest entry fees paid out in prizes.

Prizes will be awarded for best booth and for the chili that is best flavored, hottest and most original.

Set-up will begin at 1 p.m. with cooking to start at 2 p.m. and the chili supper at 5 p.m.

Free-will donation proceeds from the chili supper go toward sponsoring Brady High School junior representatives at Cornhusker Boys and Girls State.
